

THE 3 I'S OF INVENTOR SUCCESS Polly Benson

In this engaging and practical presentation, inventor and entrepreneur Polly Benson shares how a simple occupational therapy tool evolved into LegiLiner®, a nationally recognized product used by educators, therapists and homeschool families across the country.

Using her framework, The 3 I's Every Inventor Must Master—Innovate, Imitate and Influence—Polly explores the realities of bringing an idea to market, navigating competition and building a business that lasts.

Through personal stories, hard-earned lessons and real-world examples, attendees will discover why some inventors struggle while others create lasting impact. Whether you're working on your first invention or growing an existing business, you'll leave inspired to think beyond the product and focus on something truly valuable.

Polly Benson, BA, OTR/L, is an occupational therapist, inventor, entrepreneur, national speaker, author and founder of LegiLiner®, a line of innovative handwriting, math, music and educational stamps used by schools, therapists and families worldwide.

Known as "The OT Handwriting Coach®", Polly has over 30 years of experience helping children overcome learning and handwriting challenges. Her invention journey began while serving students across multiple schools and searching for a faster way to create handwriting lines. What started as a simple prototype built from a Rollagraph stamp evolved into a thriving product company serving the U.S. and internationally.

Polly's story and entrepreneurial journey have been featured on Legacy Makers TV, Inventors Digest magazine, numerous podcasts, educational conferences and national speaking events. Her products have been sold through major retailers and educational distributors, including Staples stores nationwide.
