

The Novel BedFan – A Real Breeze? Kurt Tompkins

Kurt Tompkins invented and started marketing the BedFan about 23 years ago to reduce cost of air conditioning when sleeping by producing a refreshing “breeze” under the bed sheet.

Kurt will detail his exciting journey from concept to market by explaining his process for achieving a successful product in the marketplace. He will discuss prototyping, patenting, trademarking, establishing a business, seeking customer feedback, acquiring a manufacturer, social media advertising, establishing successful Kickstarter and Indiegogo campaigns, AI marketing and the importance of a brand name.

Kurt will also explain how he improved the BedFan by designing the new bFan.
